Flower Bingo

Flower Bingo is a simple relay game which can be played between the sixes. Each six needs a master copy of the full flower sheet and then they require each of the flowers on a separate card/piece of paper. The master sheet is at the top of the hall on the floor. Each six is lined up at the bottom of the hall and have the individual flowers as a bundle. The first cub takes one flower and runs up to the top of the hall and places it on the master sheet in the correct place. They run back and tag the next Cub who takes another flower and runs to the top of the hall to place in the correct position on the master sheet. This repeats until all flowers are used up.

The six with the sheet completed properly, in the fastest time is the winner.

Nature Corners

Each of the four corners are placed in a prominent position in each corner of the room. Cubs gather in the middle of the hall. One person is selected and blind folded. When the blindfolded person gives the go ahead the Cubs run around the hall until they hear 1...2...3...Corners. At this stage Cubs run to one of the four corners in the hall. The blindfolded person then calls out one of the corners e.g., Summer. All Cubs who are in the Summer corner are out. The game continues until there is only one Cub left and they are declared the winner.

Emotion corners are played in exactly the same way.
